

FAQs for Executive Order 13950 – Federal Contractors combating Race and Sex Stereotyping

On October 7, 2020, the U.S. Department of Labor issued the following FAQs for Executive Order 13950, “Combating Race and Sex Stereotyping,” which addresses race stereotyping, sex stereotyping, or scapegoating and federal contractors’ workplace diversity and inclusion trainings:

- When does Executive Order 13950 become effective?
- What constitutes “race or sex stereotyping” under Executive Order 13950?
- What constitutes “race or sex scapegoating” under Executive Order 13950?
- Is such stereotyping and scapegoating unlawful in a training program?
- What are examples of race or sex stereotyping or scapegoating?
- Does Executive Order 13950 prohibit unconscious bias or implicit bias training?
- How can I file a complaint alleging unlawful training programs?
- What will happen with complaints received by the hotline?
- When will the Department of Labor publish the Request for Information mandated by Executive Order 13950?